choice.

This will require the forms to be somewhat dynamic in the sense that, should a user have selected a two-day visit, they will be presented with fields for documents they require on the first day and those which they require for the second day (if applicable)

order, are all document references

from the same series?